FEDERAL BUILDING GUARDS TO PATROL

Reorganization of Watch Means Annual Saving of $90,000.

A general reorganization of the watch force of the State, War and Navy buildings and the temporary war buildings west of 17th street and south of Pennsylvania avenue, as well as those in the vicinity of 7th and B streets, has just been made by Capt. Frank W. Hoover, assistant to Col. Sherrill, superintendent of public buildings and grounds. It involves a reduction of personnel and a change of duties, which, in addition to increased efficiency, is expected to effect an annual saving of between $80,000 and $90,000.

Generally the force has been reduced from a total of about 300 to 220 men, the hours of labor have been increased and most of the watchmen in the temporary buildings are required to wear civilian dress. In temporary Group 7, comprising those buildings north of West Potomac Park, the force has been reduced from eighty-seven to fifty-one men, and with the exception of one uniformed watchman at the main entrance of each building, the watchmen all in plain clothes, will maintain a constant patrol of the buildings. The patrol system was adopted in place of having the men remain at fixed posts for the better protection of the property from fire and other untoward occurrences. The same system is to be applied to the temporary buildings in the vicinity of 7th and B streets. Doing away with the uniforms will be of special financial benefit to the men, as heretofore they had to bear that expense out of their salaries.

In the general interest of the men, Capt. Hoover said today, it was proposed to recommend to Congress that all the members of the watch forces be relieved of that expense and that the government supply uniforms to men who still have fixed posts at main entrances and other special places.

The present strength of the watch force at the State, War and Navy building is thirty-one men, which is seven men less than were employed before the world war and more than 100 per cent less than during the war.

CHURCH PAGEANT TO BE SEEN FRIDAY

"Cross Triumphant" Tells Story of Church of England, From Beginning.

The need for encouragement of colored workers along art lines was early recognized by William D. Nixon and Samuel D. Milton of the Dunbar High School art department, who in 1919 were instrumental in forming The Turner Art League and in March of that year held its first annual exhibition, comprising forty canvases and twenty or more pieces of sculpture, work being received from fifteen states.

The exhibition of this year promises to surpass former efforts in both quantity and quality of work.

For the first time the Washington public will be given an opportunity to see May Howard Jackson's piece of sculpture, "The Brotherhood," which had a prominent place in a recent exhibition of the Society of Independent Artists at the Waldorf Astoria, together with several other pieces of artistic merit.

W. Edouard Scott, who a short while ago was commissioned to execute a number of mural decorations in an Indiana state building, has promised to send some of his paintings.

W. M. Farrow, who spent several years abroad in art study, will be well represented in the coming exhibition, as will be the works of artists from Pennsylvania, Maryland, Massachusetts, Alabama, Indiana, Tennessee and other sections of the country.

BELGIAN Y. W. C. A. HEAD TO BE GUEST IN DISTRICT

Ms. Helene Gohlet d'Alviella, president of the Young Women's Christian Association of Belgium, will be the guest of the Y. W. C. A. of the District of Columbia for the first time Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock and at 8:30 o'clock Friday evening, on the athletic field of Washington Cathedral Close.

"The Cross Triumphant" was written by Marietta Minnekerode Andrews, and presented to the National Cathedral with Bishops Harding of Washington, Gallor of Tennessee, Brent of New York and Cheshire of North Carolina its sponsors. The text will be read at both the afternoon and evening performances on Friday.

Principal Scenes Depicted.
The pageant scenes are divided into four main groups. The opening scene of group 1 depicts the legend of Joseph of Arimathea, who after the death of Christ, leaves Palestine and journeys to England, bearing the cross and the Holy Grail. The second scene presents the martyrdom of St. Alban, a Roman soldier in Britain, who gave up his life that he might save the life of a priest.

Group 2 opens with St. Hilte in her convent school, followed by two scenes of the Crusades. The third scene, "The Cross Triumphant," is the story of Gregory the Monk in the Roman slave market, who later, as Pope Gregory the Great, sends Augustine to England. The arrival of Augustine on the coast of Kent and the baptism of the Kentish king are presented.
